

NHC makes donation to library

Within recent months, the Dunklin County Library received a donation from National Health Care in Kennett. The donation was given to better the library experience of the older library patrons.

The Dunklin County Library decided to order book marks with this contribution. These book marks are made from a durable plastic material that magnifies the literature the patron is reading. The bookmark also features a measurement ruler on either side of the bookmarker.

Dunklin County Library Director, JoNell Minton expressed "we are so grateful to NHC for the donation they made to the library. We believe these bookmarks will be beneficial to our patrons who have difficulty reading the smaller print materials."

Book Discussion

Bill Bryson's "One Summer" will be the topic for the September Book Discussion group.

Bill Bryson takes the incidents from the summer of 1927, which involved Charles Lindbergh, Babe Ruth, Al Capone and the first "talkie," as well as much more and fits them all into "One Summer."

This month Due to the Delta Fair Parade, the Book Discussion Group will meet Monday, September 26 at 7 p.m.

from all over the county to kick off the Fall season with learning about apples.

The theme will be “A is for Apple, B is for Book.” The story time will feature apple themed books, activities and crafts. Building up to October 4, the library has an apple tree banner on display at the front counter. Until the day of story time, children are asked to come in, check out a few books and write the name of a favorite book on a paper apple. These apples will then be placed on the tree each day. “we hope to have a tree full of apples come day of story time,” Julie Orf said.
